If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

Heading out of the confines of your own home, or your close vicinity, is something that most of us haven't done since the lockdown measures were put in place. So when Mithun had to head to Pune to shoot a video in the middle of fresh lockdown measures, he couldn't have been any happier. That's totally not true. The guy was completely freaking out and he even made a stealthy recce trip before the actual video shoot just to make sure things would go ahead as planned. He has also started watching One Punch Man out of the blue. We wonder why.

Manish has started playing the Mass Effect Trilogy all over again. The remastered edition has fans of the series going gaga all over again. Speaking of gaming, Dhriti has started playing Battlegrounds Mobile India to relive her carefree days when all she did was snort ThumsUp and play PUBG. But it seems Battlegrounds Mobile India just doesn't feel the same as PUBG. So she's satiating her serotonin needs by watching Naruto. That's right, it's been 16 damned years since the anime came out, and she's watching it now. Well, at least she's watching something good.

Aditya has been giving into his fascist tendencies. So much that even the games he's playing have some Big Brother element to them. The aptly named Orwell is one of the games that's kept his attention these days.

And last but not the least, Robert has finally been jabbed. He got the 97 percenters, unlike us plebs who've had to make do with the 60 and 72 percenters. Of late, it seems that it really doesn't matter which vaccine you get, since the Delta Plus variant has emerged to be the great equaliser.

Lastly, we've got interns. Plenty of them and the new-age kids are unlike any of the previous interns we've had. These kids prefer discord over WhatsApp, Slack over Gmail, and silly abbreviations over fully-formed words. Good heavens, proof-reading some of their articles have been quite memorable for some of us. You'll find plenty of their articles in this month's issue.
