Dear Digit Creators,

My first encounter with Digit magazine only happened when I was in college. I felt lucky that at least now I found such a great geeky magazine. As a student I couldn't afford the magazine on my own. So I depended on college library and couldn't cover all of the Digit's contents due to time restrictions. That put an idea in my mind to buy this magazine on my own once I get a job. Recently I got a job and the most valuable thing I did was subscribing to digit magazine. I got my first own September 2021 digit magazine just four days back.

I was so excited and happy to scroll through those interesting pages. The customer service was so good and satisfactory with immediate replies. I also found that Digit had started giving eDVD which is great. Quality, content, price, service everything are perfectly balanced. What more do any geek would expect!

But if I had to give any feedback that would take Digit to even further step ahead, then I would desire a dedicated Digit technology TV channel. I do know and follow the YouTube channel which is great already. But a dedicated Indian technology TV channel will make any geek to binge watch. It can also be a series of episodes which can be streamed on OTT platforms like "Curiosity stream" which also I enjoy. What if Digit episodes get streamed in Amazon? That will be awesome!

Pertaining to magazine, my feedback is -

Digit can analyse and identify the current world problems, post problem statements that demands a technological solutions and can invite any students or engineers to submit their solutions, out of which the best gets published on Digit magazine. It will be a great opportunity for all engineers and science students, gives them a platform to showcase and gives them recognition. The solutions or the ideas they suggest may spark a good, green and positive technological revolutions.

Thank you,

-Chidharth M

Hi Team Digit,

I have been a subscriber of the magazine since 2012 and it has always been a new excitement to get my new copy of your magazine till now. I am currently a master's student studying Game Design and the FastTracks especially have been quite instrumental in teaching me new tools that helped me fasten my learning process along with the joy of reading them. SKOAR! has evolved so well and I enjoy that space more with diversified recommendations in games on multiple platforms. The posters are great, the quality of the print can certainly be improved but, it has been a great addition to the complete package.

There certainly can be more improvement in the review section, like for laptops, which models have better service options in terms of Accidental Damage Protection, What about upgradability, etc.

Would love to see a section where you have the best Laptops for every budget on monthly basis like the PC rig section. Also, Instead of bold URLs, mini QR codes would make a better reading experience for redirecting to the stuff that we should check.

Again, Keep up the great work guys, and even at times, I don't end up

Feedback should now be sent to magazine@digit.in to qualify for letter of the month from this issue onwards.
