

Some Siri features removed

Siri commands that provide details on phone calls, voicemails, and sending emails no longer work. <https://dgit.in/oct21-39>

Most searched word on BING

"Google" is reportedly the most searched word on Bing, according to Google.
<https://dgit.in/oct21-40>

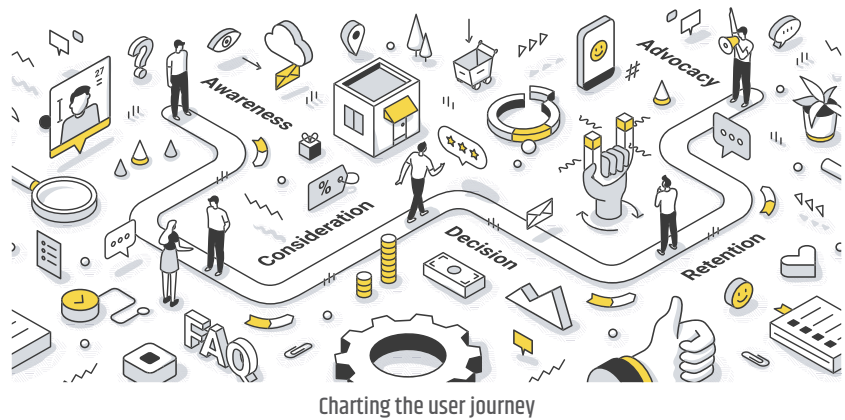

The classes include daily instructor training. It also includes written, video, and telephone comments.

• Interaction Design Basics: It is for those interested in transitioning to a UX profession, the Interaction Design Foundation (IDF) is one of the world's largest online design schools that offers various online training camps and courses. You can choose from six to nine-week full-time boot camps on topics like UX basics. It includes courses such as design thinking and UX design job hunting.

- UX Certification Program at Bentley University: Various institutions have begun offering degrees in user experience design. Bentley University is one of the most famous programs. You must complete nine courses to receive a certificate. It includes three required courses. You also need to take six electives. Each session takes place over two days. It is conducted online or in-person. It is followed by a portfolio assignment.

- The UX school: The London School of UX offers various intensive one- and five-day courses. They can be divided into full-day modules. They can be completed at your own pace. Prototyping and professional coaching are among the modules of the intensive curriculum. A live question and answer session with a professional designer is included each day. Classes were usually in person in London. Everything has been moved to Zoom during the pandemic.

- DesignLab UX-Academy: The DesignLab UX Academy journey's is divided into three phases. The Fundamentals area of UX Academy aims to introduce students to the field of user experience design. There are 480 hours of study and projects in the academy. There are many tutoring meetings and group reviews. Everything is online and on-demand. 4,444 UX Academy graduates receive four projects for their portfolio. They also get six months of access to the Career Services module.

GROWTH OPPORTUNITIES

One of the most important things a design team does is follow a user-centered design process and work on it to create the best designs for target clients.

- UX designers (Interaction/UI/ Experience designers) – Generalists deal with all aspects of design thinking. The starting salary for a UX Designer is around ₹8-9 lakh pa.
- Product designers – A UX designer with a focus on product design and user experience. They help develop product designs, goals, and roadmaps. The salary for any product designer is around ₹6.13 lakh.
- Visual designers – At the end of the design phase, experienced visual design specialists focus on creating pixel-perfect prototypes. The income for a Visual Designer is ₹ 7,11,511.

- User/UX researchers – Experienced graphic artists focus on creating prototypes.
- Content strategists – Copywriter with experience creating compelling, clear, and consistent text for direct use in products. The annual compensation for a User Experience Researcher is ₹7,64,875.

CONCLUSION

User experience designers and user experience engineers are not the same. Adding a user experience engineer to the team could be a very good approach. It will also help the team in bringing their imagination to life, especially when the frontend development team is not organisationally linked to them. User experience engineers understand user needs, and they know how to create components that meet those needs. They know how to communicate with testers and developers. They verify that the technology is working as intended. d

NO.1 GAMING BRAND
Chosen by fans and media worldwide

