

Razer Zephyr not N95

Razer removes all claims of its Zephyr mask being N95 after being called out for not having certification <https://digit.in/jan22-81>

What's special about QD-OLEDs?

This year's CES saw the introduction of Quantum Dot - OLED as a new panel technology for TVs <https://digit.in/jan22-82>

LETTER OF THE MONTH WINNER FOR DECEMBER 2021 ISSUE: THOMAS ALEX

digit diary

If you are ever curious about what the Digit gang is up to, this is the place to get all the inside info. From the latest game we're obsessing about to the newest intern we're driving up the wall – it's all here folks.

When we decided to write about the Metaverse for this month's cover story, little did we realise how much we actually needed it in our lives. The Metaverse sounds amazing, it would really open up new avenues for some really great experiences. We'd finally know what it feels to be so engrossed with something that one would completely forget about all their real-life responsibilities. Just like our interns who mysteriously disappear every single time that we have any urgent work that needs to be done. I know that you're all reading this. And just so that you know, I'm also keeping track of your eagerness.

Did we mention that we play Pokémon GO? Well, most of us do and we've all gotten to the point where we've nearly caught 'em all. Kanto, Johto, Sinnoh, ... and every other region-o has been just about completed in all of our Pokédex. All that remain are the legends which only pop up in raids once every other year, and the regional exclusives. Well, the regional exclusives aren't going to be a problem. You see, as we spent time researching for the Metaverse cover story, we chanced about some ... unique ways to use the metaverse to miraculously bring our Pokémon Trainers into the same conference room as the regional exclusive Pokémon. Multiple such conferences are slated to be held in NA, SA, France, Greece, New Zealand, Japan and Australia. Word is that our Pokémon Trainers are very confident about acquiring all the exclusives. Gotta love the Metaverse!

In other gaming news, Dhriti has been getting back into Minecraft since the new 1.18 Caves & Cliffs update came out. She's been lapping up YouTube videos in order to prepare for some night time spelunking. Alas, she is one scaredy kat. So she's been bothering the others to come and join her for an adventure. Unfortunately, Manish has been consumed by Pathfinder: Wrath of the Righteous and Mithun has been trying to get back into Team Fortress 2. Ali is playing nothing but when asked he always says he's got plans for Forza 5. We all know that day is never coming.

Also, we started working from the office again. At least until Omicron reared its ugly head. Here in Mumbai, we've seen it spread like wildfire. Every other friend or family member is walking around with the sniffles or worse. Thankfully, Omicron seems to be a much milder variant of the Covid-19 virus. Some of us have even procured RAT self-test kits. Mithun even went ahead and gave one of them a try. He stuck the swab so far up his nose that it nearly popped an eyeball out. You'd think all that effort would lead to a proper test result, unfortunately, the RAT came out invalid. Now he's even more paranoid not having figured out whether he is infected or not. He has ordered another kit and hopes to not pop out his other eyeball this time. That's all for now. See you next month. d

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

"Why am I getting half pay?"

— Intern learning about taxation, the hard way