

TikTok masters attraction

According to Cloudflare, TikTok was the most popular website in 2021, beating even Google. <https://dgit.in/jan22-61>

McDonald's customer profiling

McDonald's may be advertising more to people in low-income countries based on their social media. <https://dgit.in/jan22-62>

Kelly Yu, Carolina Bartczak, Maxim Roy, Stephen Bogaert, Azriel Dalman, and others.

Jurassic World: Dominion - June 10, 2022

Jurassic World: Dominion is the third and final instalment of the current Jurassic World movie franchise. Only a teaser has been released so far, so the plot hasn't really been disclosed yet. The movie is set four years after Jurassic World: the Fallen Kingdom which ended on a cliff-hanger with the dinosaurs being set free into the world. The film brings back protagonists Owen Grady (Chris Pratt) and Claire Dearing (Bryce Dallas) alongside the original trio of Sam Neill, Laura Dern, and Jeff Goldblum, who reprise their original characters. Colin Trevorrow will be directing the movie and co-writing the script with Emily Carmichael. Jake Johnson's Lowery won't return to the movie due to the actor's scheduling issues. Newcomers to the franchise in the third movie include DeWanda Wise and Mamoudou Athie, but their roles are yet to be made clear.

Avatar 2 - December 16, 2022

This is a highly anticipated sequel to the celebrated 2009 Avatar movie which is set for release in December 2022. The first movie was a path-breaking movie in itself, and finally, after 13 years of waiting and wondering, we are getting Avatar 2. We've sat tight for quite a while for this one. This is the first of the four sequels that have been announced by director James Cameron. The plot revolves around Jake Sully (Sam Worthington) and Ney'tiri (Zoe Saldana) who now have a family (and an adopted human child Miles Socorro, aka Spider, played by Jack Champion) and live in Pandora. But everything is not well as an antiquated danger drives them out of their home and sows a seed of conflict between the Na'vis and humans.

65, April 29, 2022

Sony and the filmmakers have been mysteriously secretive about this Adam Driver starrer sci-fi dubbed "65" so far. It's speculated to be a spine chiller where Adam Driver plays an astronaut who crash lands onto a barren obscure planet, only to discover he isn't alone. It is written and directed by Scott Beck and Bryan Woods, and also features Ariana Greenblatt and Chloe Coleman. Doug Merrifield is the executive producer. Deborah Liebling and Zainab Azizi also produce the film alongside Beck, Woods and Raimi.

Spaceman, 2022

Based on the novel Spaceman of Bohemia written by Jaroslav Kalfař, the film Spaceman will be directed by Johan Renck of Breaking Bad and Chernobyl fame, and written by Colby Day. It stars Adam Sandler, Paul Dano, Carey Mulligan, Kunal Nayyar. It narrates the story of Jakub Procházka (Adam Sandler), the first independent Czech Republic astronaut and how he sets on a dangerous solo mission in space leaving his pregnant wife behind. Adam Sandler's character was originally offered to Robert Downey Jr and later Joaquin Phoenix. The film will release on Netflix. Channing Tatum is also among the names of the producers of the film.

Distant, 16 December 2022

After a crash landing on an alien planet, a low-level mining engineer (Anthony Ramos) has to figure out his way back home. His only hope is to find another survivor. When he does connect with another human, a fellow crew member (Naomi Scott), who herself is trapped in her escape pod, he has to find his way to her all while being chased by space creatures and very little oxygen to spare. His AI, voiced by Zacry Quinto, isn't much help in his quest to survive either. The film is directed by Josh Gordon and Will Speck and Distant will hit theatres in December 2022.

SCI-FI ANIME FILMS AND SERIES

Dr Stone Special

Have you ever wished to be born in the stone age era just to skip having to go to work? No? Just us? Never mind... The beloved main character in Doctor stone, Senku Ishigami, wakes up in a time where a strange phenomenon has turned all of humanity into stone for a couple of millennia. When he awakes, he has to rebuild humanity with the knowledge of modern science. The last two seasons were a great delight to watch and the third season is currently expected in 2023. But fret not because a new special titled Dr Stone: Ryusui will be premiering this April 2022. This special will act as a bridge between Dr Stone: Stone wars and the much anticipated season three.