

GEEK CULTURE IS OUR WAY OF LIFE, AND ENCOMPASSES MOVIES, GAMES, COMICS, AND TRENDS FROM ACROSS THE GLOBE

THIS MONTH IN CULT: It's the battle of the OTTs, who will come out on top? After that, take a look at some of the most powerful aliens in science fiction. Relax with the latest trends in Hot or Not and finally, Boo-Man has a few choice words about Metaverse Weddings.

Beyblade live-action film in the works

Beyblade is getting a live-action film after years of being a popular animated show based on toys made by Takara, a Japanese firm. Jerry Bruckheimer, known for Lucifer and CSI, will be producing the live-action film for Paramount. <https://digit.in/beyblade-liveaction>

WHAT'S NEW

Matt Reeves' The Batman may get a sequel

The Batman by Matt Reeves is yet to hit the theatres, at the time of writing, and there are already discussions floating around about a potential sequel. At the UK premiere of the film, Reeves spoke to The Independent and suggested that a sequel was already in talks. Reeves said, "You don't make number one as if there's going to be a number two. You have to make number one as if you're swinging for the fences and it has to be a story that stands and lives on its own. But I really believe in what we've done and I'd be excited to tell more stories... We are already telling other stories in the streaming space, we're doing stuff on HBO Max, we're doing a Penguin show with Colin, which is gonna be super cool. And we're working on some other stuff too but we have started talking about another movie." The Batman will hit the cinemas on March 4 in India and features Robert Pattinson in the titular role along with Colin Farrell as The Penguin, Paul Dano as The Riddler, and Zoe Kravitz as Catwoman. <https://digit.in/batmansequel>

Holland, Garfield, Maguire recreate Spider-Man meme

The entire Spider-Man fandom was in a frenzy when Tom Holland, Andrew Garfield, and Tobey Maguire recreated the iconic Spider-Man pointing meme recently. The viral photo was released on Twitter and on Instagram to announce Spider-Man: No Way Home's home video release on April 12. The Spider-Man pointing meme originated in episode 19b of the 1967 Spider-Man cartoon - 'Double

Identity'. In this episode, a villain tries to impersonate Spidey. The image became a popular meme post the 2010s. The meme was written into the film's script as well as was subtly recreated in it but the photo posted was a more accurate depiction of the meme that has fans going crazy over it. Spider-Man: No Way Home saw all three actors playing Spidey unite in the film. The three Spideys from different universes fought villains across the multiverse together in the movie and Garfield and Maguire's involvement was kept secret for months prior to the film's release.

<https://digit.in/spidey-pointingmeme>

Star Trek 4 to start filming in 2022

Paramount announced that Star Trek 4, the third sequel to the rebooted Star Trek franchise, will hit their exclusive streaming platform Paramount+. Paramount hopes to start filming Star Trek 4 in 2022 with the original cast. <https://digit.in/startrek4>

Professor X cameo in new Doctor Strange film?

During Super Bowl 2022, Marvel premiered the second trailer for the upcoming movie - Multiverse of Madness, which gave fans a glimpse into a crossover event possibly featuring none other than Charles Xavier aka Professor X. <https://digit.in/strangeandx>

Many Marvel TV shows leaving Netflix

Three years after Netflix cancelled its Marvel TV shows, the shows will now be leaving the streaming service. The shows leaving the platform include Daredevil, The Punisher, Jessica Jones, Luke Cage, Iron Fist, and The Defenders. <https://digit.in/marvelxnetflix>