Scammers exploiting donations made for Ukraine

Scammers are exploiting current situations in Ukraine to make a quick buck from unsuspecting victims. Due to the current events in Ukraine, accounts tweeted out Bitcoin and Ethereum wallet addresses for donations. Malicious practices such as phishing websites and e-mails, asking for donations, are common during these times. McAfee spotted websites like ukrainehelp.world and ukrainethereum.com. The former has the BBC logo and several crypto wallets on the website. The website is asking visitors for crypto donations for UNICEF while the latter gains the victim's confidence by having a fake chatbox and a fake donation verifier. There are also other websites listed by McAfee that entice the victim into entering their credit card and personal data, only to steal it and one example of this is razonforukrain.com.

OnePlus 10R

Reportedly, OnePlus could launch 6 new smartphones before Diwali 2022 and one of these phones would be the OnePlus 10R which could launch in May. It would be a successor to the OnePlus 9R and a watered-down version of the OnePlus 10 Pro. 91Mobiles leaked some of the expected specifications of the device. The phone has got three cameras and the primary one is expected to be a 50MP sensor. The display is reportedly a 6.7-inch E4 AMOLED panel with an FHD+ resolution, 120Hz refresh rate, and HDR10+ support. Under the hood, there may be a Dimensity 8100 processor propelling the phone. OnePlus could ship the phone in two battery+charging configurations with a 5000mAh/80W or 4500mAh/150W and the latter could be called the OnePlus 10R 150W. Another thing worth mentioning is that the classic OnePlus alert slider could be missing on this phone.

Vivo X Fold

Vivo's first folding phone is called Vivo X Fold and it has been set to go official on April 11. In an online event, the company will unveil its first folding smartphone which it claims will introduce the "foldable screen 2.0 era". In the teasers shared, the Vivo folding phone looks similar to the Samsung Galaxy Z Fold 3 5G or Oppo Find N's book design. You can see the phone in its folded state initially. At the back, it has got a large rectangular island with a big camera ring. Inside, there appear to be four cameras, including a periscope zoom lens. The camera panel has got Zeiss branding and we could expect the features similar to the camera of the Vivo X70 Pro series. The device seems to have a blue faux-leather finish. According to rumours, the Vivo X Fold could have an 8-inch main inner display with a 120Hz refresh rate, and an Ultra-Thin Glass (UTG). Under the hood, for processing, it could be carrying Qualcomm's Snapdragon 8 Gen 1 processor, up to 12GB of RAM and 512GB of internal memory support. It could also be housing a massive 4600mAh battery with 80W Fast Charging, along with the latest Android 12 software.
