TAKE THINGS SLOWLY

Telegram groups are great places to build a community of people and give them a forum to express their thoughts and feelings.

A 10-second delay keeps the spammers away

But sometimes, specific wildcards appear, who are just there to spam and ruin the flow of the chat and flood the entire space with meaningless or repetitive messages. So, to counter this, there is a feature within the app that allows users to enable slow mode in their groups. This feature times out users after they have sent a message in a group for a predetermined amount of time, preventing spammers from wreaking havoc in the chat space.

To enable this feature, first head over to the group information page. Once you are there, locate the Edit option and click on it. You will be presented with a host of options, using which you can customise the group's properties. In that menu, locate the permissions button and click on it. The menu that opens after you click will have a slider with the label, Slow mode. Choose the duration that suits your need, and you are set. There are many time durations to choose from, with the shortest interval being 10 seconds and the longest lasting up to an hour.

ATTACH TIMESTAMPS TO VIDEOS

Just like YouTube allows you to create a link to the videos, starting at a particular time and also adding timestamps in the description and comments, Telegram also has a similar timestamp chat feature. This feature allows users to use the captions of the video file that they are sending as a place to insert the timestamp of the point where they want the recipient to watch the video from. It is pretty nifty!

A video message with a timestamp

If you want to add a timestamp to the caption of the video that you are sending, just load the file that you intend to send. Before you hit send, just mention the time where you want the video to start if needed in the caption, and hit send. Now, everyone in the chat will be able to click on the timestamp and start watching the video from the exact point that you suggested them to watch from.

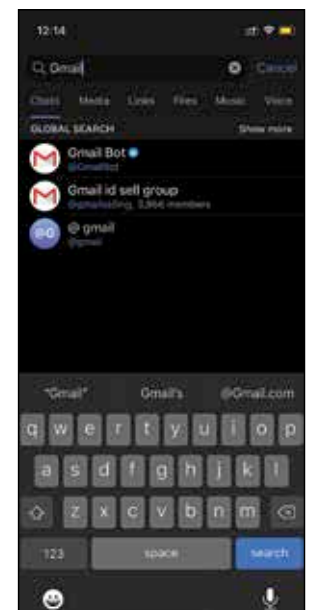

SETUP BOTS

Discord has been a service that has been famous for its bots and the assistance that they provide to the managers and administrators of the channels on that platform. But very few people know about the fact that you can add bots to the chats on the platform to access a wide variety of features. Bots can be utilised in a wide variety of ways, which range from simply receiving customised news and other updates to accepting payments, integrating content other services, and virtually anything else, as suggested by the introduction page for this feature on the app's website. Not only this, but you can also create your own bot. To get a detailed guide to this process, follow this link: <https://dgit.in/telegrambots>.

Coming back to adding bots, you start by just searching the name of the bot that you want to access. Go to the search bar and type away. Official and
