

Touch bar on a gaming laptop?

Corsair is releasing its first-ever gaming laptop, Voyager a1600, with a touch bar as seen in its early renders. <https://digit.in/jun22-09>

Spotify blend with K-pop stars

After Spotify blend playlists last year, Spotify now lets you blend playlists with K-pop artists as well. <https://digit.in/jun22-10>

Graphic Novels by Country

A trip around the globe through some of the most exemplary artwork in storytelling.

Yes, you can finally move on from Tintin and Asterix!

Pritam Biswas | feedback@digit.in

South Korea - Solo Leveling by Chugong

- Level up with the protagonist Sung Jinwoo in Solo Leveling as he embarks on a journey of protecting the human race against threats of all kinds.

United States of America - Maus by Art Spiegelman

- The Jews are mice, the Nazis are cats and the setting is World War II Germany. This 'Tom and Jerry' tale is not for the faint hearted.

Mexico - Hermanos by H.G. Santarriaga - Rock and roll, guns, and automobiles greet Santiago and Emilio when they meet ten years apart in a futuristic and dystopian Mexico City.

Japan - 20th Century Boys by Naoki Urasawa - The mysterious death of a friend leads Kenji to embark on a journey to save the world from a mysterious cult along with his friends.

Italy - Dylan Dog by Tiziano Sclavi - Head over to Craven Road, London, to meet Dylan Dog. He is an investigator who specialises in the paranormal in this famous horror comic.

India - Angry Maushi by Abhijeet Kini - Adorned in a Navari Saree, Maushi is the vigilante the city of Mumbai needs. She has the ammunition, and she is very angry!

Franco-Belgian - Thorgal by Van Hamme & Rosinski - Thorgal Aegirsson is raised by Vikings after being found in a space capsule, and thereon the mystery begins.

