

Dinosaur Park: Jurassic tycoon

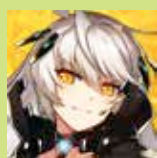

Dinosaur Park: Jurassic Tycoon is the latest offering by Codigames. If you like building simulation parks, or the tycoon games of old, then this is a title worth checking out. If you have seen the latest Chris Pratt Jurassic World movies, then we do not have to explain the game's premise to you. In case you haven't, spoilers, it's a dinosaur theme park with live dinosaurs. The game's premise is the same, build a dino theme park, and you let the masses enjoy your work. You will be in charge of the leisure theme business and you will get to satisfy dino lovers from all over the globe who come to visit your park. You can get several species of dinosaurs that you can gather from forests and put them in habitable enclosures. Alongside a T-Rex you can also assemble other species like Allosaurus, Quetzalcoatlus, Triceratops, Stegosaurus, Brachiosaurus and Iguanodon. Scientists working in your park will make sure the park is a safe place for your visitors, and the safer it gets for your visitors, the better Dinosaur Park will become. You will start with a small Park with herbivore Dinosaurs and you will build your way towards a Park which will be grander. There are also several objects you can unlock to make your Dino theme park bigger and better. The theme park will grow in visitors, in the number of dinosaurs and visually for the gamer. If you like management and idle games and if Jeff Goldblum lives rent free in your heart from Lost World, you will lap up Dinosaur Park - Jurassic Tycoon.

CounterSide: Line Battle Arena

If you are an anime fan and a strategy RPG enthusiast, this game will definitely grab your attention. The illustrations on this game are mind boggling and is the USP of this particular BattleArena. The brilliantly animated characters also come with thrilling back stories. The scenario of CounterSide: Line Battle Arena takes place at a time when the administration has failed and corrupted objects are threatening the existence of human beings. At this time, a chosen few heroes, or as they say in the game 'Counters', will fight against the evil to push them back into the void. So you can expect the Counters to have fascinating stories involving science fiction, noir and apocalypse genres. You get various ways to play the game - Story, Arena, Raid, Dive, and more. One of the features that we liked is the skip and autoplay functions. Even though the background music is amazing and the voices are immersive, the skip button enhances the gameplay for the gamers who want to go through the game as fast as they can. You can play with more than one character, collect exclusive weapons and make your way through dazzling and bright battles towards the finishing line. One character can help you defend while you can shoot with the help of another. This makes the fighting sequences entertaining and addictive. Deployment of the right character at the right time will take some playing but once you get the hang of it, you can breeze through the game.

ZOZ Final Hour

ZOZ Final Hour is a game that comes to satisfy all the third-person shooter hungry gamers out there who are eagerly awaiting another zombie game. However, this game comes with a new mode, which is a twist as far as other zombie shooters are concerned. In fact, the high rating of the game on the play store can probably be owed to this feature alone. In ZOZ Final Hour, you enter the Zombie City, San Yager, along with 15 other mercenaries. Your only goal is to collect Blood Crystals, and once you have enough of them, you can retreat. However, there's a twist. Once a mercenary loses all their blood, they will rise as a zombie, but players will still have control over them. So, you don't just become a mindless zombie, you can actually kill humans, i.e., your fellow mercenaries. You can extract Blood Crystals from zombies or simply take them from your fellow mercenaries. To be peaceful or go rogue is a decision that you have to make. Before every mission, mercenaries will be offered a set amount of money. This money can be used to arrange your loadout before heading out to battle. Weapons and gear will be given to a mercenary at random. Then a chopper extradites you to the city of zombies or the battlefield. The battlefield is made up of 7 block of building complexes which is bound to make every battle interesting. Get the Power Crystals, dodge the Zombies (or become one) and get the hell out!
